

The baseline fails to converge from its own geometry, not compute — more tune and target_accept do not fix it

